Conclusion	184

*The index of a book,
Actions of men,
Both point out what is
Most remarkable in them.*

Co-Editors - Nancy Miller
Nancy Sheek
Business Manager - Alan Myers

Involvement begins with a setting, a background, a circumstance. It consists of the activities we perform, the life we live, the thoughts we think. It concerns a cause or simply the desire to better the existing order. Involvement's concluding point is without end, ever progressing to an ultimate purpose. The place is here, The time is now, For you may never return.

*Involvement with people...
Words and expressions
of others
afford truth in quiet
moments.*

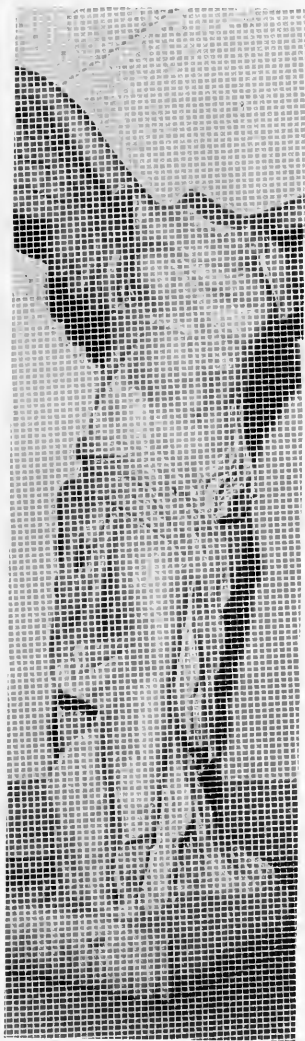

*Involvement with thought...
Examining what is
important,
Evaluating accepted
beliefs,
Man is the essence of what he thinks.*

*Involvement with the future...
What we do today
indicates
What tomorrow will be
As the rain hints of a rainbow.*

*Beauty's better side
Helps Hornet Homecoming happen!*

The happenings of homecoming.

*Time, work, worry
Threat of faltering lines
Tense moments as curtain-time nears
Thrill of opening night
A campus musical, Girl Crazy.*

*Concert—Lectures:
Informative periods,
Enlightening moments,*

*Enjoyment at its height,
Or the choice of a quiet rest.*

*Slapstick comedy
Collegiate tragedy
Derby Day at G. C.*

Local habitat Dorm, Stu, Parlor.

Live, love, laugh, learn Total involvement at Greensboro College.

The Echo Pays Tribute to Dr. James E. Hull

It is not the mere completion of professorial duties but the joy with which it is done; nor is it the greeting on a cross-country jaunt but the true felt sincerity within.

He is the mind-sticker, The thought-stimulator, The listening ear with a true interest Which aides by non-interference.

*A professor and a friend,
A creator of new ideas,
And a reviser of old ones.
Above all, a man's man—
our Dr. Hull.*

ACADEMICS

*Chalk, an eraser
Empty without the instructor
Meaningless without the instructed.
As the land is improved by sowing various seeds, so is the mind by exercising it with different studies.*

moon 2½ days later. The calculated arrival time: 5:01 a.m. EST Dec. 24.

Although the interior of the moon ship is a little bigger than a walk-in closet, the astronauts did not expect much difficulty in going about their tasks. In the weightlessness of spaceflight, movement inside a spaceship is, in fact, too easy; to say put, the three astronauts wear booties with soles made of Velcro—a special cloth that sticks to matching strips of the material on the floor of the craft.

The astronauts planned to spend most of the flight in their couches facing the instrument panel. Viewed from the main hatch, Borman occupies the left-hand couch, Lovell the center, and Anders the right. Lovell's couch can be folded out of the way, to clear a narrow aisle that leads into a shallow alcove, located immediately behind the instrument panel. The guidance-navigation system is here with its sextant, telescope, inertial-guidance unit, computer and separate control stick. Though the crew will make star sightings on Canopus and Sirius, the real guidance and corrections came from ground computers. The alcove also includes the spaceship's galley and a twelve-day supply of food.

Conclusion

Splash, slash, I was takin' a bath

Oh, no another injury?

But, but, but I'm trying!

Aggradaaggumvatted!!!!

We're two little girls who've gone astray . . .

Stop! . . . in the name of love . . .

Oh, don't give me that stuff again.

That juke box - along with you drives me crazy!

Linus carries a blue blanket but I'd settle for a Teddy, ANY DAY!

Contentment is

*Situations and comments
A humorous episode that goes unnoticed
But makes the day more
bearable*

*A work of art, as a situation,
Acquires new perspective
on each viewing.*

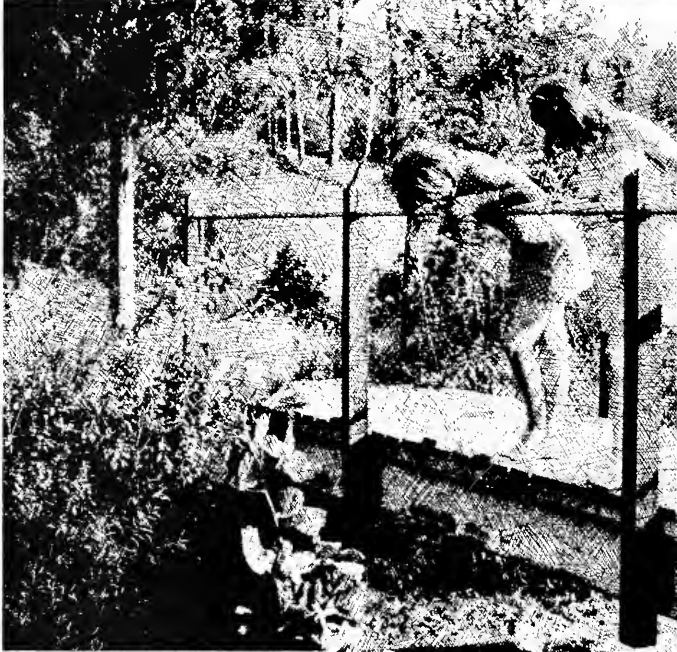

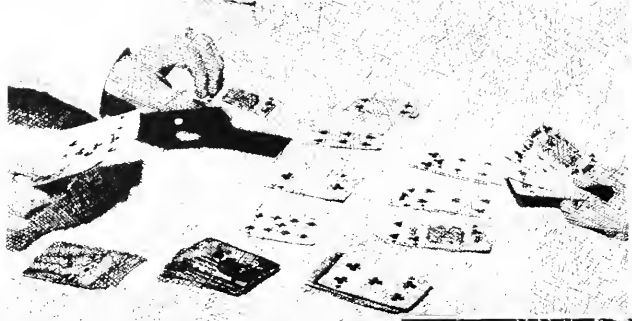

*Things of the past
Objects of the future
Faces to fill the space*

*Carrying tradition, making new policy.
A part of progress and change.*

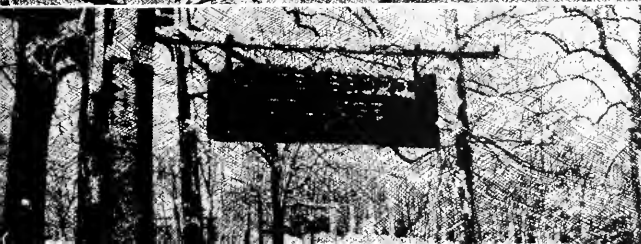

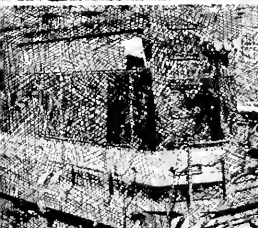

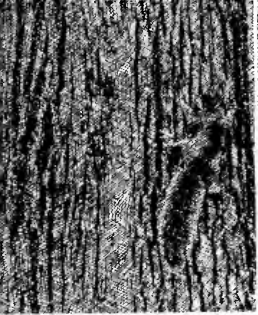

*The campus community
An entity unto itself
Yet, a part of a larger world.
The effort to become so
Made by students, faculty, administration.
Interest in a card game
Expands to national and international affairs.
If an institute of learning is
to exist,
it must not be in isolation.*
